Can influential US lawmaker on Tuesday said the interim Bangladeshi government has an absolute obligation to protect the minority Hindu community in the country after the fall of the democratically-elected Sheikh Hasina-led government earlier this year. Over the weekend, Hindus from Bangladesh organised a rally at the White house demanding release of Chinmaya Das and protection for Hindus of Bangladesh.Bangladesh's interim government has an absolute obligation to protect its Hindu minority and meaningfully address the protests of thousands of minority Hindus in outcry over the recent wave of attacks and harassment,' Congressman Brad Sherman said in a statement.Bangladesh's interim government has an absolute obligation to protect its Hindu minority and meaningfully address the protests of thousands of minority Hindus in outery over the recent wave of attacks and harassment," Congressman Brad Sherman said in a statement.Based on the feedback we are getting from #Bangladesh, Hindu monk and civil rights defender Chinmoy Krishna Brahmachari, who has been incarcerated by the interim government, faces a serious threat to his life, in custody," he

US Embassy In South Korea Issues Emergency Alert To Its Citizens After Lifting Of Martial Law

World. Following the lifting of martial law in South Korea, the United States Embassy in the country issued an emergency alert to its citizens on Wednesday, warning that the situation is "fluid" and advising them to take safety precautions.

The embassy posted the emergency information on its website a day after South Korean President Yoon Suk Yeol declared martial law. It was, however, lifted hours later after the National Assembly voted to reject it. "Following President Yoon's announcement to lift the martial law declaration, the situation remains fluid," the embassy said.US citizens should anticipate potential disruptions. When in public, you should pay attention to your surroundings and exercise routine safety precautions," as per the posting. The embassy also advised US citizens to avoid areas of demonstration and to exercise caution near "large crowds, gatherings, protests, or rallies." Peaceful demonstrations can turn confrontational and escalate into violence, it further stated. The embassy also noted that it will cancel routine applicants on Wednesday.

Gladiator for a night at the Colosseum Some Romans are up in arms

Rome. It has probably been centuries since Romans have been so feverish about happenings at the Colosseum, and it is not because of the recent release of the Ridley Scott "Gladiator" sequel. A plan by the Colosseum and Airbnb to give a select few people the chance to unleash their "inner gladiator" at the most visited site in Italy has caused an uproar among many Romans who say its demeans a treasured cultural icon.

Over two nights in May, a total of up to 32 people will learn the art of gladiator fighting at the ancient arena, taught by Roman history buffs who specialise in historical re-enactments. The project is a partnership between the Colosseum Archaeological Park and Airbnb, the accommodations booking platform, which donated $1.5 million to spruce up a permanent exhibit inside the arena. The aim, Airbnb said, "was to support the Colosseum's ongoing conservation work to find new ways to inspire and educate visitors on the historical significance of this bygone era."But some Romans and cultural leaders have given the initiative an emphatic thumbs down. (Footnote: While the emperor made such a gesture to condemn a fighter in the original "Gladiator" movie, scholars are uncertain about the direction thumbs actually pointed in ancient arenas for such purposes.) "We're against transforming the Colosseum into a theme park," said Massimiliano Smeriglio, a member of Rome's City Council. "We're all in favour if a company decides to sponsor a monument or a restoration," he said, "but it shouldn't be necessary to get anything in exchange."

Federico Mollicone, a lawmaker with the Brothers of Italy party of PM Giorgia Meloni, dismissed the criticism as the views of a "radical chic" element in Rome that treated the arena "as something sacred". The Colosseum, he pointed out, had been built for rough-and-tumble entertainment. The center-right govt this year passed a law that supports the promotion of historical reenactments. Critics also raised questions about Airbnb's involvement at a time when many European cities are struggling to balance the needs of locals with a booming postpandemic tourist industry facilitated by accommodation platforms. This summer, the backlash against mass tourism saw protests in many cities, including Barcelona, Spain, and Athens, Greece. While Romans are frequently incensed by many issues in their city - everything from uncollected garbage to potholes - they can be particularly sensitive about the Colosseum. A kerfuffle erupted last year after Elon Musk challenged Mark Zuckerberg on social media to "a cage match", and it was rumored that the Colosseum could be the venue.

South Korea lifts president's martial law decree after lawmakers reject military rule

SEOUL. The president of South Korea early Wednesday lifted the martial law he imposed on the country hours earlier, bending to political pressure after a tense night in which troops surrounded parliament and lawmakers voted to reject military rule.President Yoon Suk Yeol, who appeared likely to be impeached over his actions, imposed martial law late Tuesday out of frustration with the opposition, vowing to eliminate "anti-state" forces as he struggles against opponents who control parliament and that he accuses of sympathizing with communist North Korea.Police and military personnel were seen leaving the grounds of parliament following the bipartisan vote to overrule the president, and the declaration was formally lifted around 4:30 a.m. during a Cabinet meeting.Parliament acted swiftly after martial law was imposed, with National Assembly Speaker Woo Won Shik declaring that the law was "invalid" and that lawmakers would "protect democracy with the people."In all, martial law was in effect for about six hours. The president's surprising move harkened back to an era of authoritarian leaders that the country has not seen since the 1980s, and it was immediately denounced by the opposition and the leader of Yoon's own conservative party.Lee Jae-myung, leader of the liberal Democratic Party, which holds the majority in the 300-seat parliament, said the party's lawmakers would remain in the Assembly's main hall until Yoon formally lifted his order. Woo applauded how troops quickly left the Assembly after the vote.

'Even with our unfortunate memories of military coups, our citizens have surely observed the events of today and saw the maturity of our military," Woo said.

While announcing his plan to lift martial law, Yoon continued to criticize parliament's attempts to impeach key government officials and senior prosecutors. He said lawmakers had engaged in "unscrupulous acts of legislative and budgetary manipulation that are paralyzing the functions of the state."Jo Seung-lae, a Democratic lawmaker, claimed that security camera footage following Yoon's declaration showed that troops moved in a way that suggested they were trying to arrest Lee, Woo and even Han Dong-hoon, the leader of Yoon's People Power Party.Officials from Yoon's office and the Defense Ministry did not respond to requests for comment early Wednesday. Seemingly hundreds of protesters gathered in front of the Assembly, waving banners and calling for Yoon's impeachment.

Some protesters scuffled with troops ahead of the lawmakers' vote, but there were no immediate reports of injuries or major property damage. At least one window was broken as troops attempted to enter the Assembly building. One woman tried unsuccessfully to pull a rifle away from one of the soldiers, while shouting "Aren't you embarrassed?"Under South Korea's constitution, the president can declare martial law during "wartime, war-like situations or other comparable national emergency states" that require the use of military force to maintain peace and order. It was questionable whether South Korea is currently in such a

When martial law is declared, "special measures" can be employed to restrict freedom of press, freedom of assembly and other rights, as well as the power of courts. The constitution also states that the president must oblige when the National Assembly demands the lifting of martial law with a majority vote ollowing Yoon's announcement of martial law, South Korea's military proclaimed that parliament and other political gatherings that could cause "social confusion" would be suspended, South Korea's Yonhap news agency said. The military said anyone who violated the decree could be arrested without a warrant.In Washington, the White House said the U.S. was "seriously concerned" by the events in Seoul. A spokesperson for the National Security Council said President Joe Biden's administration was not notified in advance of the martial law announcement and was in contact with the South Korean government.

Hamas, Fatah near agreement on who will oversee postwar Gaza

CAIRO. Palestinian officials say Fatah and Hamas are closing in on an agreement to appoint a committee of politically independent technocrats to administer the Gaza Strip after the war. It would effectively end Hamas' rule and could help advance ceasefire talks with Israel.The rival factions have made several failed attempts to reconcile since Hamas seized power in Gaza in 2007. Israel has meanwhile ruled out any postwar role in Gaza for either Hamas or Fatah, which dominates the Western-backed Palestinian Authority.A Palestinian Authority official on Tuesday confirmed that a preliminary agreement had been reached following weeks of negotiations in Cairo. The official said the committee would have 12-15 members, most of them from Gaza.It would report to the Palestinian Authority, which is headquartered in the Israeli-occupied West Bank, and work with local and international parties to facilitate spok on condition of anonymity because they were not authorized to brief media on the talks. There was no immediate comment from Israel.Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has vowed to continue the war until Hamas is dismantled and scores of hostages are returned. He says Israel will maintain open-ended security control over Gaza, with civilian affairs administered by local Palestinians unaffiliated with the Palestinian Authority or Hamas.

No Palestinians have publicly volunteered for such a role, and Hamas has threatened anyone who cooperates with the Israeli military.The United States has called for a revitalized Palestinian Authority to govern both the West Bank and Gaza ahead of eventual statehood. The Israeli government, which is opposed to Palestinian statehood, is reportedly discussing a postwar plan with the United Arab Emirates, which normalized relations with Israel in 2020 and backs a rival Fatah faction.he Hamas official said the emerging Palestinian agreement would fulfill one of Israel's war goals by ending Hamas' rule in Gaza. It's unclear if Israeli officials would see it that way. The Palestinian Authority, which administers parts of the occupied West Bank, recognizes Israel and cooperates with it on security matters, a policy that is deeply unpopular among Palestinians, many of whom view it as a subcontractor of

US President-Elect Donald Trump's Lawyers Urge Judge To Toss His Hush Money Conviction

World. President-elect Donald Trump's lawyers formally asked a judge Monday to throw out his hush money criminal conviction, arguing continuing the case would present unconstitutional disruptions to the institution of the Presidency."In a filing made public Tuesday, Trump's lawyers told Manhattan Judge Juan M. Merchan that dismissal is warranted because of the "overwhelming national mandate granted to him by the American people on November 5, 2024."They also cited President Joe Biden's recent pardon of his son, Hunter Biden, who had been convicted of tax and gun charges. "President Biden asserted that his son was selectively, and unfairly, prosecuted, and treated differently," Trump's legal team wrote. The Manhattan district attorney, they claimed, had engaged in the type of political theater "that President Biden condemned."Prosecutors will have until Dec. 9 to respond. They have said they will fight any efforts to dismiss the case but have indicated a willingness to delay the sentencing until after Trump's second term ends in 2029. In their filing Monday, Trump's attorneys dismissed the idea of holding off sentencing until Trump is out of office as a "ridiculous suggestion." Following Trump's election victory last month, Merchan halted proceedings and indefinitely postponed his sentencing, previously scheduled for late November, to allow the defense and prosecution to weigh in on the future of the case. He also delayed a decision on Trump's prior bid to dismiss the case on immunity grounds. Trump has been fighting for months to reverse his conviction on 34 counts of falsifying business records to conceal a $130,000 payment to porn actor Stormy Daniels to suppress her claim that they had sex a decade earlier. He says they did not and denies any wrongdoing. Taking a swipe at Bragg and New York City, as Trump often did throughout the trial, the filing argues that dismissal would also benefit the public by giving him and "the numerous prosecutors assigned to this case a renewed opportunity to put an end to deteriorating conditions in the City and to protect its residents from violent crime." Clearing Trump, the lawyers added, would also allow him to "to devote all of his energy to protecting the Nation." The defense filing was signed by Trump lawyers Todd Blanche and Emil Bove, who represented Trump during the trial and have since been selected by the president-elect to fill senior roles at the Justice Department.A dismissal would erase Trump's historic conviction, sparing him the cloud of a criminal record and possible prison sentence.

Trump's pick Chad Chronister withdraws from DEA nomination, cites commitment to local duties

Hillsborough, US President-elect Donald Trump's pick for the role of Administrator of the US Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA), has withdrawn his candidacy, citing his ongoing commitment to local initiatives."To have been nominated by President-Elect @realDonaldTrump to serve as Administrator of the Drug Enforcement Administration is the honour of a lifetime," Chronister wrote in an X post on Wednesday.

Over the past several days, as the gravity of this very important responsibility set in, I've concluded that I must respectfully withdraw from consideration. There is more work to be done for the citizens of Hillsborough County and a lot of initiatives I am committed to fulfilling," he added.Chronister expressed gratitude for the nomination and vowed to continue serving as sheriff. However, the announcement has sparked mixed reactions. District 1 Lake County Commissioner Anthony Sabatini called the withdrawal a "huge win for liberty," while Republican Congressman Thomas Massie of Kentucky criticised Chronister's past actions during the COVID-19 pandemic."This sheriff ordered the arrest of a pastor for holding services during the COVID panic. He was tapped by Trump to head the DEA. Glad to see him withdraw from consideration. Next time politicians lose their ever-lovin minds, he can redeem himself by following the Constitution," Massie wrote on X.Chronister faced backlash in 2020 for arresting Dr. Ronald Howard-

Browne, pastor of The River at Tampa Bay Church, for holding in-person services in violation of public health orders. At the time, Chronister defended the decision, "Announcing the arrest of Dr. Ronald Howard-Browne... who intentionally and repeatedly disregarded state and local public health orders, which put his congregation and our community in danger," he said. The charges were later droppedSome conservatives, including commentator Liz Wheeler, criticised Chronister's nomination. "Chad Chronister is a COVID tyrant who arrested a Christian pastor... Chronister abused his power; he's unfit to lead the DEA," Wheeler wrote on X.Senator Markwayne Mullin of Oklahoma defended Chronister, "What disqualifies somebody.

Gazans walk miles for bread and flour amid war shortages

World Faced with major food shortages A small child, her face covered in tears, after nearly 14 months of war, Palestinians describe long days hunting for flour and bread in the conflict-ravaged Gaza Strip.Every morning crowds form outside the few bakeries open in the Palestinian territory, as people desperately try to get a bag of bread at distribution points. Since the outbreak of war in Gaza last year, charities and international aid organisations have repeatedly warned of crisis levels of hunger for nearly two million people.A United Nations-backed assessment last month warned of famine looming in the northern Gaza Strip amid a near-halt in food aid after Israel launched an offensive in the area. Essential goods like water, fresh produce and medicines are also scarce.

Gazans across the territory have told AFP in recent months how they wake up at the crack of dawn just to ensure they can get some flour or bread, with current availability reaching an all-time low.

In the southern city of Khan Yunis, AFP photographers saw dozens of people at a distribution point, bodies pressed against each other. Over each other's heads. everyone tries to reach out as far as possible to grab the round bread.

them several weeks before the war."There is no flour, no food, no vegetables in the markets," Nasser Al-Shawa, 56, said, who, like most residents, was forced to leave his home because of the bombings and lives with his children and grandchildren in central Gaza. Shawa, who now lives in a friend's house in Deir el-Balah, says a 50kilogram bag costs between 500 and 700 shekels ($137 and $192). Before the war, it cost around 100 shekels. In the latest blow, the UN agency supporting Palestinian refugees (UNRWA) announced Sunday it was halting aid deliveries to Gaza via a key crossing point with Israel.UNRWA said delivery had become impossible, partly due to looting by gangs.

For Layla Hamad, who lives in a tent with her husband and seven children in southern Gaza's Al-Mawasi, UNRWA's decision was "like a bullet to the head". Rahul, Priyanka Gandhi Stopped from Visiting Sambhal Amid Violence Over Mosque Survey

New Delhi: Congress leaders Rahul Gandhi and Priyanka Gandhi Vadra were stopped by police at Ghaziabad on Wednesday while attempting to visit Sambhal in Uttar Pradesh, where five people were killed in violence linked to a mosque survey. This marks the second time in a few days that a Congress delegation has been prevented from entering the area.

The Gandhi siblings tried to visit following an earlier attempt by a Congress delegation led by Ajay Rai, which was also blocked. Tensions have been rising in Sambhal after a local court ordered a survey of the Jama Masjid, a Mughalera mosque, after a plea claimed a temple existed at the site before it was demolished by Babur.

Violence erupted on Sunday during the second round of the survey when a mob clashed with police, injuring 36 officers and damaging vehicles. The Supreme Court intervened last week, halting the survey and calling for peace and harmony. Rahul Gandhi, an MP from Rae Bareli, protested the police obstruction, asserting, "As leader of the opposition, it's my right to visit, but I am not being allowed." He criticized the government's actions, saying, "This is the new India, where constitutional rights are being ignored."

Priyanka Gandhi questioned the Uttar Pradesh government's handling of law and order, saying, "If such situations cannot be managed here, how can the BJP boast of controlling law and order?"

Maha Kumbh Mela district becomes 76th district of UP

by Ajay Kumar

Lucknow: The Yogi government of Uttar Pradesh has declared the Maha Kumbh Mela area as a separate district. With this, the state now has 76 districts instead of 75. On Sunday, a new district was carved out from the boundary of Prayagraj district to form the Maha Kumbh Mela district. Prayagraj District Magistrate Ravindra Kumar Mandal issued a notification confirming the establishment of the new district. According to the notification, the boundaries of the new district have also been defined. The Maha Kumbh Mela district will consist of four tehsils: Sadar, Soron, Phulpur, and Karachhana, and will include a total of 67 villages. The district magistrate of this district will also hear cases related to these villages.

It is noteworthy that every year, the Magh Mela and every six years the Ardh Kumbh are held in Prayagraj, but the Maha Kumbh, which takes place every 12 years, creates a unique spectacle. During this time, a new city is built within Prayagraj city, which usually has a population larger than that of the old city.

In the past, during the Maha Kumbh, this new city has been declared a district, and separate appointments have been made for a district magistrate, sub-district officers, and tehsildars, with the SSP also being deployed. The formation of this new district has been done with the upcoming Maha Kumbh in January 2025 in mind. This district will be known as Uttar Pradesh's 76th district and will be called the Kumbh Mela district.

Archaeological Survey Department Seeks Control of Sambhal Jama Masjid

by Ajay Kumar

Lucknow: After a local court in Sambhal district, Uttar Pradesh, ordered a survey of the district's Jama Masjid, the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) has filed its response in court following misbehavior with the survey team and subsequent violent clashes. In its response, ASI has sought control and management of the Mughal-era mosque, stating that it is a protected heritage structure. The court had previously granted permission for the survey of the royal Jama Masjid.

Representing ASI, lawyer Vishnu Sharma stated that the agency presented its objection in court on Friday, mentioning that the survey team faced resistance from the mosque management committee and local people during the survey. ASI also referred to an incident on January 19, 2018, when an FIR was filed against the mosque management committee for installing steel railings on the mosque's stairs without permission.

Vishnu Sharma stated that ASI had notified the monument as protected in 1920, and since then, the mosque has been under the agency's jurisdiction. Therefore, public access to the structure should be allowed, but ASI rules must also be followed. ASI argues that the control and management of the monument should remain with them, including any structural modifications. The agency has also expressed concern over unauthorized changes made by the management committee to the mosque's structure, and has called for restrictions on such actions. ASI hopes that the court will consider the matter in the coming days.

New Delhi: President Droupadi Murmu today emphasized India's growing leadership in oceanic transport and its ability to harness monsoon-driven sea capacity, underscoring the nation's commitment to maritime security and economic growth. neers in harnessing the full potential of the seas," she stated. The Navy Day celebrations at Blue Flag Beach also marked the anniversary of Operation Trident, a key naval offensive during the 1971 Indo-Pak war. The event showcased the Indian Navy's strength and technological prowess, with over 15 ships and submarines, as well as more than 40 aircraft, taking part in the display. The event also included thrilling aerial maneuvers by MiG-29K and Hawk fighter jets, along with combat exercises by the Marine Commandos (MARCOS), submarine operations, amphibious landings, and rocket firing demonstrations from warships.

The Navy Day festivities were aimed at showcasing the Indian Navy's advanced capabilities and reaffirming its role in safeguarding the country's maritime borders, while also protecting vital sea lanes for international trade. The President's address underscored the importance of maritime power in the nation's economic and strategic growth as India continues to assert its influence on the global stage.

IIT-ISM Director Prof. Sukumar Mishra Honored as IEEE Fellow

RNS I Dhanbad: Professor Sukumar Mishra, Director of the Indian Institute of Technology (Indian School of Mines) Dhanbad, has been named a Fellow of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE), effective January 1, 2025. This prestigious recognition is in honor of his outstanding contributions to the fields of microgrid control and smart charging technologies. The IEEE Fellow rank is one of the highest distinctions in the field of electrical and electronic engineering, awarded to individuals who have made significant advancements in the profession. Less than 0.1% of IEEE voting members are selected each year, highlighting the exceptional nature of Professor Mishra's achievements. In recognition of this honor, Professor Mishra will receive the IEEE Fellow certificate and a 10K Gold Fellow pin, symbols of his elevation to the highest level of IEEE member-

In addition to this recognition, Professor Mishra was recently honored with the Hingorani Award 2024 by the Bangalore Chapter of the IEEE Power and Energy Society. The award acknowledges his significant contributions to solar photovoltaic systems, especially his work in developing reliable microgrids for residential areas.

for residential areas.

Professor Mishra's research focuses on advanced control techniques for grid-forming inverters, which are essential for addressing the complex challenges of modern power grids. His work helps to ensure the smooth integration of renewable energy sources, such as solar panels, wind turbines, fuel cells, and hydroelectric systems, into existing power infrastructure. His findings, published at the 2021 IEEE

Energy Conversion Congress and Exposition (ECCE), have been instrumental in improving the efficiency and reliability of power grids.

Given the increasing global demand for sustainable energy solutions, Professor Mishra's research plays a critical role in advancing distributed energy systems that can integrate renewable energy sources into national grids, ensuring a greener and more resilient energy future.

IIT-ISM Dhanbad congratulates Professor Sukumar Mishra on this prestigious honor and looks forward to his continued groundbreaking contributions to electrical and electronic engineering.

Fadnavis elected BJP legislature leader, to become Maharashtra CM on Dec 5; Shinde to be Dy CM

Fadnavis was finalised as CM at BJP's core committee meeting before the legislature party met. Mahayuti leaders to meet Governor CP Radhakrishnan today to stake claim for government formation.

MUMBAI. Devendra Fadnavis was unanimously elected as the Maharashtra BJP legislature party leader at its meeting here on Wednesday, paving the way for his appointment as the chief minister. The swearing-in ceremony will be held in Mumbai on Thursday in the presence of Prime Minister Narendra Modi and other BJP leaders.

Fadnavis' name was finalised for the top post at the BJP's core committee meet held here ahead of the legislature party meeting, sources said.Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) leader Sudhir Mungantiwar said leaders of the Mahayuti coalition will meet Governor CP Radhakrishnan at 3.30 pm on Wednesday to stake a claim to form government.

Union minister Nirmala Sitharaman, former Gujarat Chief Minister Vijay Rupani were present at the BJP legislature party meeting held at the Vidhan Bhawan in Mumbai. The BJP had appointed Sitharaman and Rupani as central observers for the meet.On Tuesday. Fadnavis met caretaker Chief Minister and Shiv Sena leader Eknath Shinde at his official residence, 'Varsha', the first in-person meeting since their discussions in Delhi last week for government formation. Notably, TNIE had earlier reported that Shinde had agreed to take charge as deputy chief minister within the BJP-led new Mahayuti government. While the hour-long meeting between Shinde and Fadnavis yesterday details remain unclear, some political observers view it as an outreach effort by the BJP to placate an ally which is weighing its options, while others believe it served as a preliminary discussion regarding the swearing-in ceremony set for December 5. The BJP achieved remarkable success in the November 20 Maharashtra elections, securing 132 out of the 288 assembly seats in the state, marking its best performance in the state so far. Together with its allies -- the Shiv Sena led by Eknath Shinde and Ajit Pawar's NCP, the BJPled Mahayuti coalition has a commanding majority of 230 seats.

Will Omar government restore public holiday on

NC founder Sheikh Abdullah's birth anniversary?

SRINAGAR. Whether the Omar Abdullahled National Conference government will restore the public holiday in Jammu and Kashmir on December 5 remains uncertain. The day marks the birth anniversary of National Conference founder and former J&K Prime Minister and Chief Minister, Sheikh Mohammad Abdullah, also known as Sher-e-Kashmir.After abrogation of Article 370 and the bifurcation of erstwhile J&K state into two Union Territories by the centre on August 5, 2019, the public holiday on Sheikh's birthday was cancelled from 2020 by the Lt Governor administration.Sheikh Abdullah was born on December 5, 1905, in Soura area of Srinagar. Till 2019, Sheikh's birth anniversary was a gazetted holiday in Jammu and Kashmir, National Conference whether in power or opposition used to hold functions at Sheikh's grave at Hazratbal to mark the day. The grand old party used to hold power shows on the day and the Abdullahs (Faroog Abdullah and Omar Abdullah) used to spell out the party's agenda. Now with NC back in power, the J&K's grand old party is making calls to restore the holiday.National Conference general secretary and MLA Ali Mohammad Sagar today called on CM Omar Abdullah to reinstate December 5 as a public holiday.Urging the government to act promptly, he said respecting Sheikh's legacy and courage is not just a matter of historical justice but a recognition of the unshakable bond he shares with the people of Jammu and Kashmir.

"Sheikh was a bulwark against the tides of despair, championing the cause of dignity, democratic rights, and social justice for the people. His sacrifices and tireless efforts brought an end to despotic rule and paved the way for a prosperous future," Sagar said. Not only Sagar, but many other leaders in NC are in favour of restoring the holiday. With the pressure from party building in favour of holiday, it remains to be seen whether Omar's government would restore the holiday which is only a day away.

The NC enjoys a comfortable majority and it won't be a difficult task for the Omar government to restore the holiday on Sheikh's birth anniversary, political observer said. After taking over reins of the UT on October 16, the Omar government has already taken one major policy decision by restoring the November-December exam session in Valley instead of March-April.

IPS Officer, Who Led CIB Probe Against Chandrababu Naidu, Suspended

There were allegations that the IPS officer was involved in irregularities while serving as Director General of State Disaster Response and Fire Services.

Amaravati. The Andhra Pradesh government, on Tuesday, suspended senior Indian Police Service (IPS) officer and Additional Director General of Police N Sanjay for violation of conduct rules.

The General Administration Department issued an order, placing the former Chief of Crime Investigation Department (CID) under suspension under Rule 3 (1) of All India Services (Discipline & Appeal) Rules, 1969. There were allegations that the 1993-batch IPS officer was involved in certain irregularities while serving as Director General of State Disaster Response and Fire Services.

The IPS officer has been directed not to leave the headquarters. During the previous regime of the YSR Congress Party, Sanjay as the CID Chief supervised the probe into the cases related to the Andhra Pradesh Skill Development Corporation scam and alignment of Amaravati Inner Ring Road against the then Leader of the Opposition and Telugu Desam Party (TDP) President, N. Chandrababu Naidu. These cases resulted in the arrest of Naidu who spent nearly two months in jail.After Chandrababu Naidu assumed office as the Chief Minister in June following the electoral victory of the TDP-led NDA, Sanjay was transferred and asked to report to the office of the DGP.The new government also ordered the Vigilance and Enforcement (V&E) Department to investigate the allegations against the IPS officer. The V&E Department reportedly found that Sanjay misused his official position to facilitate payment of? 1 crore to Sautrika Technologies and Infra Private Ltd. without any progress in the assigned work.

Stopped By Cops On Way To Sambhal, Rahul Gandhi Says Duty To Meet Victims

New Delhi. Congress MPs Rahul Gandhi and Priyanka Gandhi Vadra were stopped at Ghazipur border when they were on their way to Sambhal in Uttar Pradesh, where violence erupted two weeks back over the survey of a mosque. The Gandhi siblings and several Congress workers were stopped by police officers, citing the sensitive law and order situation in the western UP town.

The Leader of the Opposition in Lok Sabha has now requested the police to allow a delegation of 4-5 persons to proceed to Sambhal and meet those affected by the November 24 violence. The police officers have said they would consult their seniors and get back. Later, the officers refused permission to the Congress leaders to proceed to Sambhal. A proposal for Mr Gandhi to go alone was also turned down. "As Leader of the Opposition, it is my job and responsibility to go and meet the victims. I am being stopped from discharging my job and duty," he said. The Congress leaders have now decided to return to Delhi. The massive traffic jam at Delhi-UP border, caused after cops stopped the Congress delegation, is expected to clear once the Opposition leaders turn back. Prohibitory orders are in place in the western Uttar Pradesh town after four people were killed and several others injured in violent clashes with police during a court-ordered survey of the Shahi Jama Masjid. The Mughal-era mosque is at the centre of a legal battle after some petitions claimed it was built on the site of a Hindu temple. Local Samaiwadi Party MP Zia Ur Rehman, Samajwadi Party MLA Mahmood's son Sohail Iqbal and over 700 unidentified people have been charged in the FIR filed in connection with the violence. Police and administration have said they would not allow outsiders to visit the area, citing the law and order situation. The prohibitory orders have been extended to December 31. Earlier, a delegation of Samajwadi Party MPs was stopped from entering the district. District Magistrate Rajendra Pensia earlier wrote to the police commissioners of Gautam Buddh Nagar and Ghaziabad and the police superintendents of Amroha and Bulandshahr and urged them to stop Mr Gandhi. Besides the Gandhi siblings, five Congress MPs from Uttar Pradesh are part of the

PM Modi Lauds Rise In Tiger Population, Addition Of 57th Reserve

New Delhi. Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday hailed the rise in the country's Tiger population over the years and hoped the big cats will continue to thrive as a result of the government's conservation efforts.

"Wonderful news for environment lovers, in line with our centuries old ethos of caring for nature. Thanks to collective efforts, India's Tiger population has been increasing over time and I am sure this spirit will continue in the times to come," said PM Modi in a message on social media platform X.His comment came in response to Environment and Forest Minister Bhupender Yadav's post announcing the creation of the country's 57th tiger reserve, acknowledging PM Modi's emphasis on wildlife Commending the National Tiger Conservation protection.

Minister for Environment, Forest and Climate Change Yadav headlined his post "Caring for conservation!" and said, "We continue to make great strides in conserving our tigers. India has added the 57th tiger reserve to its tally.

Authority's conservation efforts, Yadav said, "The latest to join the list is Ratapani Tiger Reserve in Madhya Pradesh. As a country of nature lovers and worshippers, India offers the best habitat for the big cat. The feat is a result of the emphasis laid by PM Shri @narendramodi ji on wildlife protection alongside economic progress."The Environment Minister attached a tiger's photo along with a map highlighting the area of Ratapani Tiger Reserve and said, "I commend @ntca india for its relentless efforts in tiger conservation. I also congratulate the people of Madhya Pradesh and wildlife lovers across the country.'

According to the Ministry, the tiger population in the country has increased to 3,682 (range 3167-3925), as per the All India Tiger Estimation done in 2022. In comparison, the 2018 estimation put the tiger population at 2,967 (range 2603-3346) and the 2014 estimation showed a population of 2,226 (range 1945-2491). A government statement said the tiger population is increasing at a rate of 6 per cent per annum when consistently sampled

The attack on Mr Badal took place as he was serving penance ordered by the Akal Takht, the Sikh religious body, for "mistakes" by his party when in power from 2007 to 2017.

New Delhi. The attack on Sukhbir Singh Badal - a man shot at the ex-Punjab Deputy Chief Minister this morning at Amritsar's Golden Temple - has been slammed across political lines, with Mr Badal's Shiromani Akali Dal, the Congress and the Bharatiya Janata Party uniting to condemn the attempted assassination. SAD leader Naresh Gujral led the charge, suggesting "the attack by extremists on Punjab's moderate forces... has Khalistani connections" and also claiming a conspiracy by foreign actors, including Canada, Pakistan, and the United States in a statement underlining the emotions at play all around."Today's attack is an attack by extremists on moderate forces in Punjab... among Sikhs and Punjabis. As per preliminary reports, the attacker had Khalistani connections. So-called Khalistanis somehow. There could also be a conspiracy by Pakistan," he said."It is clear that foreign forces... sitting in Canada and America have a hand in this. We want an inquiry by the National Investigation Agency, and people and forces involved should be revealed and interrogated," Mr Gujral told news agency ANI,

Punjab.'

Congress, BJP Slam AAP

Congress leaders Amarinder Singh Raja Warring, the party's Punjab unit chief, and Samajwadi Party MP Ram Gopal Yadav have also reacted. Mr Warring said the attack was "very wrong" but seemed more critical of the ruling Aam Aadmi Party, holding it "100 per cent" responsible."I think this is very wrong. This should not have Such incidents undermine the very happened. I consider the firing at Sukhbir Singh Badal (because of) 100 per cent negligence of the government. This shows the condition of law-and-order in Punjab. Whoever fired the bullets should be given strictest punishment," he said.Mr Warring also demanded action against senior police officials, particularly the Assistant Commissioner. "Immediate action should be taken against him... how did this happen? he asked, accusing the AAP of "waiting for someone to be killed and then say it was a 'lapse'."The Congress, which is the main opposition, also reacted through the Leader of the Opposition, Partap Singh Bajwa, who called the attack "deeply unfortunate and unequivocally condemnable". "Such acts of violence have no place in our society.

fabric of our democratic values and societal harmony. The incident is a stark reminder of the need for responsible discourse and vigilance in Punjab," he said.From the BJP's camp, National Secretary Manjinder Singh Sirsa condemned the attack and, like the Congress, took the chance to also fling mud at the AAP for failing to maintain lawand-order.

An attack on Sukhbir Singh Badal in the sacred premises of Sri Harmandir Sahib is not just a security lapse but a grave breach of the sanctity of our religious institutions. AAP government has failed to ensure safety of citizens and uphold dignity of holy places," he said in a video statement on X.The SP's Mr Yadav said, "It is extremely sad an attempt was made to kill him."

Courts letting ancient sores erupt afresh

WHEN in a hole, stop digging further — thus goes the familiar proverb. After the Ayodhya temple judgments, Indian courts are now sought to be engaged in a frenetic digging up of ancient religious grievances of a similar nature.

The underlying primary assumption is that many mosques were built upon temples that had been demolished by invaders. The second assumption is that notwithstanding the passage of centuries of time, there is today a legal right to restore the old temple by demolishing the existing mosque if necessary. The third assumption is that any court anywhere in India can grant executable decrees of change of character of a place of worship of one faith, to a worshipper of another faith. None of these assumptions was upheld by the five-judge Constitution Bench that passed the Ayodhya verdict. The judgment refutes the claim that a temple was brought down to build a mosque in medieval India. It awards decrees to both religions as having established their rights of worship at the spot.However, using the Supreme Court's special powers under Article 142 of the Constitution, it imposed a majoritarian peace by pushing away the mosque to an alternative site and letting a temple be built on the original site.

Thus, all three assumptions listed above stood legally negated by the judgment that ran into over a thousand pages. Implicit in the judgment was the acceptance that the resolution of the Ayodhya dispute was to be treated as a one-off event and not as a precedent for further claims. However, the message that percolated down to the public was that the Supreme Court had upheld the building of a temple where a mosque once stood. Public perception, therefore, was that all mosques were, henceforth, fair game for conversion. What the courts did soon thereafter only added to the public perception. The Ayodhya judgment had barely been delivered that cases were filed for the conversion of mosques in Mathura and Varanasi. The mosque committees responded that the suits had to be dismissed because the Places of Worship (Special Provisions) Act of 1991 prohibited the change of character of any place of worship that existed as on August 15, 1947. The Act of 1991 had been upheld unanimously in the Ayodhya judgment.

Thus, in the fresh Gyanvapi dispute, when an order of the courts in Varanasi was carried to the SC, the court had an opportunity to nip the trouble in the bud. That was not to be. It was an ill-considered remark by presiding judge DY Chandrachud — that the courts could still inquire into what the exact character of the place was on the first day of Independence — that gave a fresh life to the suit and let loose the dragon seeds of fresh hatred.

Running parallel to the Varanasi dispute was the dispute regarding the Eidgah in Mathura. Both suits were allowed by the SC to proceed and work their way through the court system. Some interim orders were also passed, depriving the Muslim side of the use of some portion of the facilities and allowing surveys to be done by the Archaeological Survey of India and various court commissioners. The upshot is that courts are now instruments of an Ayodhyaesque kar seva.

It may well be that the judges of the Supreme Court felt it to be safer for public passions to be expended in the long process of the Indian litigation. They possibly thought that the legal process would help a nation resolve uncomfortable questions from the past. What they did not perceive was that disputes about religious sites are not about religions but about nationalism itself. Are we a nation of unity in diversity or are we a unitarian civilisation? Journalist and author Nilanjan Mukhopadhyay, in his book on Ayodhya, The Demolition and the Verdict, writes: "...'inclusive' or 'multiple sub-nationalisms' (region and religion) were amalgamated into pan-Indian nationalism by the Congress, especially with the advent of Gandhi.

Shaky Dhaka needs a helping hand

EVER since a popular revolt overthrew the government of Sheikh Hasina in Bangladesh, the country has been rocked by violence and disorder. The minority Hindu community there has been targeted. New Delhi has expressed strong concerns about these incidents to Dhaka, saying that the primary responsibility for the safety and security of "all citizens of Bangladesh, including minorities, rests with the Government of Bangladesh".

Developments in the country can be seen in two ways. First, after the iron hand of Hasina's Awami League government has been lifted, the country is reverting to a situation of semi-anarchy, with the Islamists and Pakistan's ISI (Inter-Services Intelligence) holding sway and the Hindu minority being persecuted. The second approach would be to consider that Bangladesh is going through a temporary phase in which the country, which did not have real democracy for the past decade, is trying to find its feet under the aegis of an interim government.

angladesh is perhaps the most consequential neighbour of India in South Asia, being 'India-locked' — of its 4,367-km land boundary, just 271 km is with Myanmar and the remaining 4,096 with India. It borders Tripura, Mizoram, Assam, Meghalaya and West Bengal and holds the key to the economic development as well as security of our northeastern region.

Given the nature of the Bangladesh border, it is difficult to completely seal it; as a result, the policies of various governments of the country have had a vital bearing on our security. India's relations with Bangladesh have seen ups and downs. Beginning with India's role in helping Bangladesh emerge as an independent nation, it has been a rollercoaster ride for bilateral ties as dictators Ziaur Rahman and HM Ershad encouraged the Islamicisation of the country in a bid to maintain their control. As in Pakistan, the Jamaat-e-Islami (JeI) has played a significant role and grown in the process, despite the fact that it fought against the freedom movement of the country.But what happens in Bangladesh is not just about India but the wider region, including China, Myanmar and South-East Asia. The creeping radicalisation of its large Muslim population could have wider global consequences. Besides the JeI, there are other radical groups, like the Harkat-ul-Jihad-al-Islami and the Jamaat-ul-Mujahideen Bangladesh, as well as elements of the al-Qaeda and the Islamic State. A network of madarsa leaders, Hefazat-e-Islam, too, wants Sharia rule in the country and is opposed to the establishment of a secular polity there. The JeI's alliance with the Bangladesh National Party (BNP), headed by Begum Khaleda Zia, has been a major problem. As a result, her tenures as Prime Minister in 1991-96 and 2001-06 have been marked by problems arising out of the virtually free rein given to the ISI and the sanctuary provided to an assortment of insurgent groups active against India in the North-East.

The India-Bangladesh relationship stabilised with the establishment of Hasina's government in 2009. Most importantly, it helped check the use of Bangladeshi territory by anti-India elements, be it the ISI or various north-eastern insurgent groups. This led to the reopening of land routes connecting the two nations and signing of the Motor Vehicles Agreement by BBIN (Bangladesh, Bhutan, India and Nepal) to promote regional movement of traffic.China has developed significant interest in Bangladesh both as part of its larger policy of containing India as well as exploiting the country's location at the head of the Bay of Bengal, next to the Rakhine state of Myanmar, where it has important investments and from where a pipeline carries oil from the port of Kyaukpyu to Yunnan in China, bypassing the Malacca Strait. Beijing has invested large amounts of money in constructing bridges, roads and power plants in Bangladesh and has also emerged as the biggest military supplier to the country.For many of the reasons cited above, New Delhi needs to handle things with care in Bangladesh. It is true that the situation is extremely volatile and can go out of control, resulting in negative consequences for India. The situation is compounded by the fact that the ISI is likely to be working overtime to impose an anti-India narrative on the popular movement there.

India needs to draw lessons from its successful handling of strained ties with neighbours recently. By providing financial succour to Sri Lanka during its economic crisis, it has bought considerable goodwill, which is paying dividends with the government of Anura Kumara Dissanayake. Likewise, by calmly dealing with President Muizzu of Maldives, New Delhi has managed to blunt his "India out" strategy.

Similar dividends are visible in Nepal — the nominally anti-India Prime Minister KP Sharma Oli, who is on an official visit to China, had made it clear beforehand that his country would not sign any new loan agreement with Beijing under the Belt and Road Initiative (BRI). Indeed, the Nepalese want to sign a new agreement with China that will narrow the scope of BRI in their country.

With Bangladesh, too, India needs to adopt a policy of strategic patience. Bangladesh is a country in transition. New Delhi needs to support the process of restoring democracy there. There has been a tendency to exaggerate the attacks on Hindus. After an initial upsurge, such attacks have come down. We also must understand that our one-sided support to Hasina has resulted in suspicion about our motives and there is need to provide a corrective to our Bangladesh policy.

RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat has sounded the alarm. He has expressed concern over a paradoxical situation: population growth in the world's most populous country is on the decline. Painting an apocalyptic picture, Bhagwat has warned that a society whose total fertility rate (TFR) dips below 2.1 could disappear off the face of the earth. He has a solution: Hum Do Hamare Teen — every couple should have at least three children. Does the RSS Sarsanghchalak want members of every community in the country — majority as well as minority -- to produce more kids? That seems unlikely, going by what Prime Minister Narendra Modi said at an election rally in Banswara, Rajasthan, in April. In a thinly veiled attack on a particular community, the PM had equated 'infiltrators' with "those who have more children".

Bhagwat is worried most probably because of the findings of a working paper released by the Economic Advisory Council to the PM a few weeks after Modi's controversial speech. It says that the share of Hindus in India's population decreased by 7.82 per cent between 1950 and 2015, while that of Muslims increased by 43 per cent. The worst-case scenario for the RSS chief is the majority community being reduced to a minority. Ironically, Health Minister JP Nadda, while addressing a meeting on World Population Day (July 11), stated that 'smaller families' could help India achieve the goal of Viksit Bharat.It's true that India's fertility rate has fallen significantly, in part due to a laudable rise in the contraceptive prevalence rate. A low TFR has prompted Andhra Pradesh to do away with its twochild policy, while Telangana is keen to follow suit. However, various states would be well advised to take stock of the resources available while reversing timetested family planning measures. Can they handle the additional demographic burden in terms of healthcare, education, job generation and poverty alleviation? It's tempting for political and religious leaders to play the numbers game and stoke communal fires, but they should not overlook the implications of such actions for India's long-term social and economic stability.

What holds back Punjab's draft agricultural policy

IAM often asked about my tenure as the Chairman of the Punjab State Farmers' & Farm Workers' Commission (April 6, 2017-September 20, 2021). On the very first day, without even a hint of guidance on what my work entailed, flummoxed...

IAM often asked about my tenure as the Chairman of the Punjab State Farmers' & Farm Workers' Commission (April 6, 2017-September 20, 2021). On the very first day, without even a hint of guidance on what my work entailed, flummoxed but undeterred, I sent a letter to the Department of Agriculture, asking it to provide information on pesticide, seed and fertiliser sample failures in the state.

The data — that would have taken a few hours to put together in the private sector — took two years of dogged perseverance and persuasive cajoling to get. It took six months just to get an officer from the department to assist the commission in its work. Having never worked in the government, the chase taught me a vital lesson: the real problem is not the government, it is the bureaucracy. That was lesson number one.o cut the long story short, the commission found many instances of pesticide, fertiliser and seed sample failures where no cases had been filed for the past 10 years or had been timebarred. Consequently, around 150 officers were charge-sheeted. I was informed that the officers had threatened to go on strike. However, the commission's aim was not to penalise anyone, which it ensured, but thereafter, compliance become 100 per cent. The same happened a little later when we proposed that the government create a price stabilisation fund for milk, food and vegetables by imposing a 20 per cent fee on the charges received by the arhtiyas for the procurement of grains for the FCI. The arhtiyas arrived, flexing their muscles. I told them that if they were to agitate at my doorstep, it would do good for the commission's image. However, they easily convinced the government to ignore my advice nitially, different departments were to brief me on their working and issues so as to understand how the system worked. Instead, the commission decided to visit all departments and meet the officers and junior staff in their respective offices. It proved to be an eye-opener. It led to the next awakening: "inept governance" holds back progress. Consequently, in the draft agricultural policy, the first chapter is on 'governance'. It was the first-ever policy of any kind to identify governance as a problem and a solution. It was not palatable for many but, with time, my stand was vindicated. The commission only has an advisory role. Yet, I have regrets — not for the work I did, but about the decisions I did not make or was dissuaded from taking. It is hard to quantify all the work in brief here, but some laws that got enacted during my tenure were pathbreaking. I was doubtful that the then state Chief Minister, Capt Amarinder Singh, would agree to banning truck unions, but his administrative acumen being outstanding, truck unions were banned. Though they kept operating in some places like Bathinda. That was the third learning: never be afraid to punch above your weight. On regulating the electricity subsidy to the economically better farmers, the CM was persuaded by his office not to tread the politically contentious path, even though the farmers' unions had concurred with this suggestion.

I must acknowledge that farmers' union leaders were supportive of the commission's efforts in policy formation. Making the draft of Punjab state farmers' policy taught us the fourth valuable lesson: a transparent consultation process is a fundamental requirement for achieving positive policy outcomes. Additionally, we ensured that Punjab banned the sale of herbicide glyphosate, the only state to do so.

There were other remarkable wins. In 2002, the government had allocated over 300 acres of land in Ladhowal near Ludhiana to a business group for a measly Rs 2,000 per acre for supporting agriculture. On finding out that the land was not being used for the purpose, the commission submitted a report on the issue, based on which the group returned the land without litigation to the state. That was the fifth takeaway: success is only possible if one works as a team as the commission did; not as individuals.

My own experiences derived from my farm at Abohar helped me in my work at the commission. Agriculture college students train at our farm as a part of their degree course. Their practical knowledge is left wanting in many aspects. After joining the commission, I was shocked to learn that unlike medical colleges that are regulated by the Union Government, agriculture colleges were not regulated. Agriculture is a state subject and the state did not have any such law. On the commission's suggestion, the state government enacted the Punjab State Council for Higher Education Act 2017.Out of the 112 colleges in the state, the Punjab State Council for Higher Education (PSCAE) asked students to avoid taking admission in colleges offering BSc (agricultural) which were not fulfilling conditions under the Act. It also released a list of the institutes that complied with the minimum standards prescribed. The list had only 15 names. The farm experience had also taught me about the difficulty of viably operating a greenhouse. We decided to list each greenhouse subsidised by government agencies. To its shock, the commission documented that over 90 per cent greenhouses had stopped operating within three to four years. There were many other such instances. The commission had a similar experience on the suo motu inquiry report on canal water pollution in the Beas river from the Chadha distillery spill. The sixth learning was that the system tends to turn a blind eye to failures and evidence-based research should influence the policy and action. We, thus, recommended that actual beneficiaries be allowed to assess the programme outcomes. When the commission reached out to district headquarters to follow up on the rehabilitation of families affected by farmers' suicide, it found that, like other laws, it was not even on their agenda.

বেঙ্গল সরকার পিছু হটেছে, ঝাড়খণ্ড বেঙ্গলে যানবাহনের প্রবেশ শুরু

প্রায় ২৪ ঘণ্টা পর, বেঙ্গল সরকার পিছু হটেছে এবং ঝাড়খণ্ড থেকে বেঙ্গলে যাওয়া সমস্ত পণ্যবাহী যানবাহনের প্রবেশ শুরু হয়েছে। গত সন্ধ্যা ৭টার পর বেঙ্গল সরকারের আদেশে ঝাড়খণ্ড-বেঙ্গল মথন সীমান্তে পণ্যবাহী যানবাহনের প্রবেশ নিষিদ্ধ করা হয়েছিল।

এর ফলে রাত থেকে দুপুর পর্যন্ত প্রায় ২০ কিমি দীর্ঘ যানজট সৃষ্টি হয়। চালকদের সমস্যার কথা বিবেচনা করে, MASS বেঙ্গল সরকারকে চাপ দেয় ঝাড়খণ্ড সীমান্ত থেকে বেঙ্গলে প্রবেশ করা সমস্ত যানবাহন বন্ধ করার জন্য। এর ফলে, বেঙ্গল সরকার পিছু হটতে বাধ্য হয় এবং অবশেষে ভারী যানবাহনের প্রবেশ আবার স্বাভাবিক হয়।

বেঙ্গল সরকারের এই অনুমতির পর, ট্রাক চালকরা স্বস্তির নিঃশ্বাস ফেলেন। প্রাক্তন নিরসা বিধায়ক অরূপ চ্যাটার্জি ঝাড়খণ্ডের মুখ্যমন্ত্রী হেমন্ত সোরেনের এই উদ্যোগের প্রশংসা করেন। তিনি বলেন, মুখ্যমন্ত্রী হেমন্ত সোরেন এই বিষয়ে ক্রমাগত গুরুত্ব দিয়েছেন। বেঙ্গল সরকারের সাথে ইতিবাচক আলোচনা করার পর বেঙ্গল সরকার নিষেধাজ্ঞা তুলে নেয়। এর পর, সারিতে দাঁড়িয়ে থাকা সমস্ত পণ্যবাহী যানবাহন ধীরে ধীরে বেঙ্গলে প্রবেশ করতে শুরু করেছে। NH-এ দীর্ঘ যানজট এখন সীমিত হচ্ছে এবং যানজটও ভাঙতে শুরু করেছে।

बच्चों, कुछ दिन पहले ही यूरोप और एशिया के कई देशों के पहाड़ी इलाकों में बड़े पैमाने पर बर्फबारी हुई थी। अभी भी उसका असर साफ देखा जा सकता है। लेकिन ये बर्फबारी होती कैसे है? आकाश में बर्फ कैसे बनती है और नीचे क्यों गिरती है?

दोस्तों, तुम जानते होगे कि हमारी धरती पर जल धिर जाता है। आसपास के इलाके भी सर्द हवाओं एक लगातार चक्र में चलता है। सूरज की गर्मी से नदियों, तालाबों, झीलों से जल भाप बनकर उड़ जाता है और वातावरण में पहंच जाता है। जब इस तरह के बहुत सारे वाष्प कण इकट्ठे हो जाते हैं तो वे बादल का रूप ले लेते हैं। जब ये बादल आपस में टकराते हैं तो बारिश होती है। लेकिन जब ये बादल वातावरण में अधिक ऊपर चले जाते हैं तो वहां का तापमान बहुत कम हो जाता है और वातावरण बहुत ठंडा हो जाता है। बादल का तापमान बहुत नीचे पहुंचने पर, बादलों में मौजूद वाष्प कण नन्हे-नन्हे बर्फ कणों में बदल जाते हैं। हवा इन बर्फ कणों का वजन सहन नहीं कर पाती और ये कण बादल से नीचे की ओर गिरने लगते हैं। जब वो गिरते हैं तो एक-दूसरे से टकरा कर जुड़ने लगते हैं। इस तरह इनका आकार बड़ा होने लगता है। जब ये कण हमारी पृथ्वी पर गिरते हैं तो हम उसे बर्फबारी कहते हैं।

की चपेट में आ जाते हैं।

अब तुम्हारे मन में यह सवाल जरूर उठ रहा होगा कि यह बर्फबारी पहाडी इलाकों में ही क्यों होती

बर्फ उन स्थानों पर अधिक गिरती है जो इलाके या तो समुद्र से काफी ऊपर होते हैं या फिर ऊंचाई पर होते हैं। वातावरण में बर्फ काफी अधिक बनती है, जिसका एक छोटा हिस्सा ही नीचे पहाड़ों पर गिरता है। बाकी हिस्सा बारिश के रूप में नीचे आता है।

अब तुम सोच रहे होगे कि बर्फ बनती और नीचे बारिश गिरती है, वो कैसे? वातावरण में मौजूद ओजोन की गर्म परतों के बीच से जब बर्फ के कण गुजरते हैं तो यह बर्फ पिघल जाती है और बारिश के पानी में बदल जाती है, जबकि ऊंचे पहाड़ों में तापमान पहले से ही शून्य डिग्री से काफी कम होता है, इसलिए वहां पर बर्फबारी होती है।

क्या होता है फायदा

पहाड़ों पर गिरी यह बर्फ गर्मियों में सूरज की तिपश से पिघलकर निदयों में पानी की आपूर्ति करती है, जिसे खेती-बाड़ी, बिजली बनाने और अन्य कामों के लिए उपयोग किया जाता है।

हिंदी का निबंध

हिंदी में निबंध याद करना तुम्हें कुछ कठिन लगता होगा ना। इतना बड़ा निबंध याद करते-करते थक जाते होगे। अगर खुद लिखना पड़ जाए तो नानी याद आ जाती है। समझ ही नहीं आता कि क्या लिखें, कितना लिखें। चलो आज हम तुम्हें बताते हैं कि इसे कैसे लिखना चझाहिए। पहले ये समझ लो कि अच्छे निबंध के गुण क्या-क्या होते

बंधे हों वाक्य

निबंध का अर्थ है बंधा हुआ। निबंध की पहली विशेषता है कि निबंध एक सूत्र में बंधा होना चाहिए। एक ऋम में लिखा होना चाहिए। कोई बात कहीं भी नहीं लिखनी चाहिए। आलतू-फालतू बातों का निबंध मैं कोई स्थान नहीं होता।

ज्यादा बडा न हो

तुम हमेशा यह सोचते हो कि निबंध का अर्थ है 4–5 पेज का लम्बा– चौड़ा। लेकिन ऐसा नहीं है, अगर सटीक, सही बातों को लिखा हो तो वो भी निबंध कहलाता है। निबंध छोटा होना चाहिए।

यह निबंध की सबसे महत्वपूर्ण विशेषता है। निबंध की भाषा सरल, सहज, सटीक होनी चाहिए। शब्दों का प्रयोग अच्छा होना चाहिए। व्याकरण का प्रयोग भी सही होना चाहिए।

ऐसे लिख डालो

सबसे पहले आती है भूमिका, अर्थात निबंध के विषय के बारे में लिखने से पहले तुम निबंध के विषय से संबंधित भूमिका बांधो। परंतु यह अधिक लम्बी नहीं होनी चाहिए, नहीं तो बोरिंग हो जाती है।

विषय से संबंधित

जब कोई निबंध लिखना हो तो रफ लिख लेना चाहिए कि पहले क्या बताना है, फिर प्वाइंट बना लो, इसके बाद उन्हें पैराग्राफ में लिखो।

इसमें निबंध का निष्कर्ष होता है, अर्थात इस विषय से तुम क्या सोचते

रटो नहीं, सुमझकर

बच्चों, ये सच है कि जिस भी विषय को रटकर याद करते हो, वह ज्यादा दिन तक तुम्हारा साथ नहीं देता। इसलिए विषय को समझ कर पढ़ने की आवश्यकता है। वैसे भी अब तुम्हारी परीक्षा पास है। ऐसे में तनाव होना स्वाभाविक है। इस तनाव को दूर करने का एक ही तरीका है, विषय को रटने की बजाए उसे समझकर याद करो। वह विषय चाहे लैंग्वेज हो या साइंस या फिर मैथ्स, हर विषय के साथ तुम इसे आजमा सकते हो। समझने से अर्थ यह है कि विषय को जिसे तुम तैयार करना चाहते हो, उसे स्टेप बाई स्टेप पढ़ो, फिर लिखकर अभ्यास करने से वह विषय पूरी तरह से तुम्हारे साथ हो जाता है। परीक्षा के बाद भी तुम उसे नहीं भूलते। यही तो कमाल की बात है, जो तुम्हें रटने में नहीं मिलता, क्योंकि रटी हुई चीजें जिस रफ्तार से याद होती हैं, उसी तेजी से वह हमारी स्मृतियों से गायब भी हो जाती हैं। मान लो तुम्हें अंग्रेजी या हिन्दी की तैयारी करनी है तो तुम उसके शब्दों, अर्थों, वाक्यांशों को टुकड़ों में करके याद करो। दुबारा उन्हें लिखकर देखों कि उनमें से कितनी चीजें याद हुई। जहां भी गलती हुई उसे दुबारा लिखकर अभ्यास करने से हिन्दी या अंग्रेजी के मैटर तुम्हें याद हो जाएंगे। पाठ के अंत में दिए गए सवालों को पढ़कर उत्तर देने होते हैं ऐसे में मूल पाठ को ठीक से पढ़ना चाहिए। फिर उनके उत्तर उन्हीं वाक्यांशों में ढूंढ़ना चाहिए। जो शब्द समझ में नहीं आते हों उन्हें या तो डिक्शनरी में देखो या फिर अपने टीचर से उनका अर्थ पूछ लो। रटने से हमेशा बचना चाहिए, साथ ही पढ़ने-लिखने से विषय की बारीकियों को समझने में आसानी होती है। इसलिए विषय को रटो नहीं, बल्कि उसे समझकर लिखने का

Ben Stokes lashes out at ICC after England's WTC points docked

New Delhi. England captain Ben Stokes lashed out at the ICC after the team faced deductions in the World Test Championship points. The sanctions were put against New Zealand and England during the 1st Test of the series in Christchurch. Stokes took to his Instagram and shared a post over the same and captioned, "Good on you ICC. Finished the game with 10 hours of play still left." Stokes was unhappy with the deduction in points and highlighted that the match ended well within time.

Both New Zealand and England were fined 15% of their match fee and three points were docked in the World Test Championship standing. These penalities come in at a very critical juncture of the WTC 23-25 cycle as the teams are fighting it out to finish in top

England's commanding eight-wicket win at Hagley Oval may have been a showcase of dominance, but it does little to alter their fate in the World Test Championship (WTC), as they are already out of contention for the final. However, the victory dealt a significant blow to New Zealand's campaign.Ben Stokes' Insta storyA points deduction has pushed the inaugural WTC champions down from joint fourth to fifth place in the standings, leaving them with a reduced points percentage of 47.92%. Even if New Zealand secures wins in both of their remaining Tests against England, their maximum possible points percentage rises to just 55.36%. This leaves the Black Caps in a precarious position, needing more than just back-to-back victories. They must rely on favorable outcomes in other matches to keep their slim hopes of reaching the final alive, making their path to qualification a daunting one. The penalties arose as both sides were found to be three overs short of the target after accounting for time allowances. Under competition rules, teams are penalized one championship point for each over they fall short.Captains Tom Latham (New Zealand) and Ben Stokes (England) admitted to the offense and accepted the sanctions, negating the need for a formal hearing. The charges were brought by on-field umpires Ahsan Raza and Rod Tucker, with support from third umpire Adrian Holdstock and fourth official Kim Cotton.

6mm grass, rain on Day 1: Adelaide pitch curator talks conditions for 2nd Test

Adelaide. Adelaide Oval's pitch curator

Damian Hough has confirmed that the wicket will have an even covering of grass -6mm to be exact in the 2nd Test match of the Border-Gavaskar Trophy. Speaking to the press on Wednesday, 4 December, Hough said that the conditions will help the seamers. Asked if the conditions will be overwhelmingly favourable for fast bowlers in Adelaide, Hough said that him and his team were trying to make a balanced wicket where batters, pacers and spinners can impact the Test match. However, the curator added that under certain parameters such as under the lights or overcast conditions, the seamers will get a lot of help from the Day 1 of the Adelaide Test match, with 88 per cent chances of rain predicted on December 6. Hough said that in those days, the ball will swing and seam but it will not be because of the pitch, but due to the conditions on the venue."History suggests that it is hard to bat under lights in Adelaide. The pitch will have 6mm of grass. We are trying to produce a pitch that would be a good contest. The pitch did not play a part in the Test match finishing in 3 days last time India were here. I thought that it was really good bowling from Australia. As long as there is something in it for all aspects of the game, I am happy, I just want a good contest," Adelaide Oval curator Damian Hough told the press on Wednesday, 4 December."The ball hooping around has got nothing to do with the pitch. Under right conditions, right weather, the ball will move," he further added. The last time India played in Adelaide, they were bowled out for 36 - their lowest ever Test total in Test cricket. The team go into the Test match this time around with more confidence. India won the first Test match of the series by 295 runs - their biggest win in Australia by the margin of runs.

The team will try to replicate their success from Perth as they hunt for a spot in the final of the World Test Championship.

Probable top-eight sweat it out ahead of day-night challenge

₩While nothing is certain as of now, it could well be the top eight of India's XI for the second Test against Australia that begins Friday.

New Delhi. With thousands of fans getting a close-in view, India captain Rohit Sharma had two extensive net sessions ahead of the pink-ball Test in Adelaide on Tuesday.

Sharma, who missed the first Test, having hinted at batting in the middle-order to allow Yashasvi Jaiswal and KL Rahul remain at the top, did show a lot of resolve while facing the Pink Kookaburra. During the session, Indian team had four nets at the in the nets. Just next to the enclosed nets was a viewing area where fans, thousands of them stood in line, to get a glimpse of their sporting stars. As it did in 2018-19, a clipping of Virat Kohli batting with the sound of his bat did the rounds on social media.Meanwhile, Rohit faced a lot of side-arm throwdowns from Nuwan Seneviratne along with usual stuff from the right-arm specialist Raghu Raghavendra and Dayanand Garani. The skipper made a conscious effort to leave deliveries on length but whenever anything short was dug in, he would pull effortlessly.

Bengal fast bowling duo of Akash Deep and Mukesh Kumar (reserve pacer) looked impressive during the session. While Mukesh got his deliveries to move in the air creating some sort of a challenge for Virat Kohli, Akash did ask probing questions to Gill, who looked comfortable.

While there are a few questions left to be answered on India's combination for the second game, some of them might get clear when a member of the team/support staff address the media on Wednesday.

Adelaide Test: KL Rahul has press in splits with reply to batting order question

Adelaide. India batter KL Rahul had the press room in splits when he was asked about his batting position in the Adelaide Test match. Rahul told the press that he was told what position he would bat in, but was also told not to share it with anyone.

Speaking at the press conference on Wednesday, 4 December, Rahul spoke in details about his batting, and how comfortable he is batting in different positions in the line-up. Rahul said that he just wanted to be a part of the playing XI of the Indian Test team and did not mind batting in any position. Rahul's comments come in the background of India potentially making big changes in their batting line-up for the pink ball Test in Adelaide. India are expected to have Rohit Sharma and Shubman Gill back in the side for the 2nd Test match of the Border-Gavaskar Trophy. In case both batters return, KL Rahul might have to drop down to No.5

New Delhi India's veteran speedster Umesh Yadav reacted to West Indies fast bowlerJayden Seales, breaking his record of the most economical spell in Test history. Umesh congratulated Seales for his achievement and was elated to witness Test cricket thrive. The West Indies pacer delivered an extraordinary bowling performance in the 2nd Test vs Bangladesh at Kingstown. He bowled the most economical spell in the history of Test cricket by a speedster. Seales bowled 15.5 overs, including 10 maidens, conceding just five runs while claiming four crucial wickets. He economy rate was 0.30, which is the second best in Test history."Congrats to Jayden Seales on an amazing performance-4 wickets with an economy of 0.31! You've broken my record, and I couldn't be happier to see Test cricket thriving with such talent. The purest form of the game tests skill, patience, and character, and you've shown it all," Umesh tweeted. Earlier, the record was held by the Indian pacer whose economy rate clocked 0.42 vs South Africa in 2015 Test match. Until Seales' spell, Umesh Yadav's 0.42 (21-16-9-3) was the best - both among pacers and among any bowler since that Nadkarni spell. We don't talk anymore: Harbhajan Singh's shocking remark on equation with Dhoni

New DelhI Former India spinner Harbhajan Singh said to each other. Speaking to News18, Harbhajan has revealed that while he does not have a problem with MS Dhoni, him and the former India captain are not friends anymore.

Harbhajan and MS Dhoni were integral parts of the Indian team that won the 2007 T20 World Cup and the 2011 ODI World Cup. While Dhoni captain the team in bot editions and was the team's brains, Harbhajan shined with 7 and 9 wickets in respective tournaments. The spinner revealed that he and MS Dhoni did not speak outside the field during their years at the Chennai Super Kings as well. Harbhajan played for the Chennai-based franchise between 2018-2020. He further added that he only rings those people who pick up his calls."No, I don't speak to Dhoni. When I was playing at CSK, that's when we spoke, but otherwise, we haven't spoken. It's been 10 years and more. I have no reason; perhaps he does. I don't know what the reasons are. When we were playing in the IPL at CSK, that's when we used to talk, and that, too, was restricted to the ground. After that, he did not come to my room, nor did I go to his," Harbhajan Singh told News18."I don't have anything against him. If he has something to say, he can tell me. I just go there and try and see what I need to do to get runs in a particular situation. Luckily I have batted in different positions. Early on, when I was asked to bat at different positions, it was a bit of a challenge mentally. How to play those first 20-25 balls? how early can I attack? Those things were a problem earlier, but it has gotten easy with the experience of playing in different formats,' KL Rahl said. The right-hander batted brilliantly in the second innings of the Perth Test match alongside Yashasvi Jaiswal, where they notched up a partnership of 200+ runs, the first by any Indian opening pair. Rahul said that he was told by the Indian team management that he might open in the Perth Test match quite early.

West Indies' Struggle in the Chase West Indies captain Kraigg Brathwaite led a positive start to the chase but could not form a lasting partnership. He was dismissed for 43, and the team struggled to build momentum. Mikyle Louis and Keacy Carty fell to Taijul and Taskin Ahmed, and Brathwaite's departure further hindered the chase. Kavem Hodge, who scored a half-century, tried to keep the West Indies in the game, but once he fell for 55, the rest of the team quickly followed. Taskin Ahmed, Hasan Mahmud, and Nahid Rana joined Taijul in dismantling the West Indies' lower order. Taijul's brilliant spell earned him his 15th career five-wicket haul, trapping Joshua Da Silva to seal the victory for Bangladesh. The West Indies' chase began with promise, but they failed to maintain consistency. Brathwaite's 43 and Hodge's 55 were the highlights, but they were unable to sustain the required partnerships. Bangladesh's bowlers, particularly Taijul, exploited the conditions expertly, and the West Indies were bowled out for 185, falling 101 runs short.

Aamir Khan's Daughter Ira Khan On How Her Parents' Divorce Changed Their Lives 'I Was 4 When We Moved Out...'

ra Khan, daughter of Aamir Khan and Reena Dutta, has been open about her mental health struggles. Aamir and Reena divorced in 2002 when Ira was five. In an interview with Pinkvilla, Ira talked about how her parents reacted to her struggles and how she dealt with their divorce. She said that both her parents were concerned when she shared her struggles."I don't think I told him (father, Aamir) that I was putting it on Instagram. When I told both my parents, they were worried. You don't figure it out all at the same time. It's not like I said one sentence and it was over. There was concern because I was studying in the Netherlands, wanting to drop out, so there were a lot of decisions to be made. My dad has put this faith or belief in us that mental health issues are not shameful." she said during a chat with Pinkvilla. Ira mentioned that while her parents, Aamir Khan and Reena Dutta, never openly blamed themselves for her struggles, she felt they might have. She recalled that when she started medication, both her parents were very worried, focused on their own fears. Ira said, "I started my medication when I came home in 2018. During that time, I could tell that both of them were extremely worried because they were going on their own fears and tangents. And I was like, 'I am the child, I need help right now, we can deal with your fears later'. They never said that or openly blamed themselves, but I am sure they felt those things. Even though they know that it's not in their control, it's a culmination of many things. I hope they don't blame themselves."When asked about how her parents' divorce affected her, Ira said it changed their lives. She said, "My parents' divorce wasn't one day, it was something that changed all our lives since that day.
